SYNOPSIS

Special insurance investigator Nick Goldman and his partner Ken have been assigned to their toughest case yet: locate the missing "Star of India" diamond which was recently stolen in Paris. As it turns out, the owner Hector Bates has had it stolen to recover the insurance money. To further complicate matters, the stone he had stolen was a fake while he maintains possession of the original.

Not only have Bates' thieves decided to double-cross him and take for themselves what they presume to be the real diamond, but they have also begun to fight among themselves for the prize. Realizing this, Nick devises a plan to accelerate their jealous bickering to the boiling point. This eliminates that element of the gang while providing enough evidence to go after Bates directly. Bates is on the run, but Nick and Ken stop him in time, and in a furious battle, destroy his gang, subdue Bates and turn him over to the police, and recover the "Star of India".
